White House Life Quiet

Many Families of Congressional Set Are in Washingten for Special Session

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The capital is assuming real winter airs in the social world, with some event of particular importance taking place each say and more important ones promised for later on. Life at the white House scarcely differs from that of the simplest home in the capital, the President having Secretary of War Weeks and some of his Senatorial riends with him for a short time in the evenings or perhaps to take lunch with him, but really having no one in the nature of a formal visitor. Reports from the White House are that Mrs. Harding continues to improve levely but steadily and that her considerence will be a long one. She eas only the President, members of the family and a few intimate friends, and then only for a short time.

semburg Academy in Pennsylvania at the beginning of the term, it is prob-ble that they will either join their grents here for the Thanksgiving eriod or that the Vice-President and line. Coolidge will go to Pennsylvania. There is more than even the usual New England perseverance in the school ife of John and Calvin Coolidge and sching is permitted to interrupt their endles.

The opening of the called session of Congress on Monday has brought may families of the Congressional set tack to the capital, but there will not be a real settling down in that branch of life until December 1. Then there will be a good deal of dreariness because of so many prime favorites disappearing from official ranks. Senator and May Frank B. Kellogg, who returned from the West some days after the dealing, remained in Washington may far a thort time and then went a list Sarings, Va., for the cure. They will ratus to Washington, however, for its specing session.

really big event for Miss Anderson will be her coming out party at Rauscher's. The younger element and many of the more sedate members of society have found a charming resort in the cid Pierce Mill in Rock Creek Park, opened as a teahouse for the Girl Scouts. Large parties of pedestrians—and Washington is growing to be a great place for pedestrians—riding and driving parties stop there for tea. Some of the very smartest members of society took luncheon there last week.

'Welcome Stranger' Movement May Be Extended to Appointment of Committee as Boardwalk Hosts

Special Disputch to The Tribune ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 18 .- Whether the annual pageant in September shall continue to be financed from private funds or be maintained by a city appropriation was the cause of a public meeting that packed the Commission Chamber in City Hall Tuesday night. Chamber in City Hall Tuesday night. The Avenue Hotelmen's Association is on record as favoring a municipal fete, and all the civic clubs approve the plan. The project will be further debated at another meeting.

The international convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America will close its sessions to-morrow night. The sessions that began Tuesday and continued the rest of this week, have been marked with an attendance of distinguished men from all walks of life.

"Welcome the Stranger" movement, so popular in some cities, has been given a larger meaning by the proposition made by Mr. "Jack" Benson, personal representative of the Hotel Traymore and secretary of the Atlantic City Hotelmen's Association. He has suggested that the Mayor or City Clerk, at the close of each month, select the names of 300 men and women who will, under the direction of a chairman selected by them, appear regularly on the Boardwalk at stated hours in holiday attire, impressing on visitors the gayety and charm that are found as a feature of Boardwalk at mosphere. He proposes a committee should meet important trains and mingle with the throngs. The city, he suggests, might employ the services of a professional stage director to direct details of costume and groupings.
